Between the mythical Opéra Garnier, the departments stores and Le Louvre,

Le Scribe has been beating the vibrant rhythm of Paris for 150 years.

Built in 1861 as part of the creation of the Opera district,

Le Scribe is chosen from the outset as the seat of the prestigious Jockey Club.

In 1871, the building occupies the site of the first Louis Vuitton boutique.

In 1895, the Lumière brothers present the world's first cinema screening while many artists and celebrities live there like Josephine

Baker who made it his Parisian residence until 1968.

A key player in Parisian life, Le Scribe is now writing a new page in its history.

From April 2018 to September 2019, Le Scribe launches its renovation program and invites Parisians and travelers to share their vision of the Parisian Spirit.

Tristan Auer

- Awarded best designer of the year in 2017 by Maisons & objets
- His strength : his ability to value a place while respecting its history and heritage
- References : Hôtel de Crillon Paris, Les bains Douches

Tristan Auer re creates a “Men’s club” atmosphere where feminine and masculine's world meet each other. The gentlemen’s presence, the attitude of the dandies heritage from the Jockey club period, meet the feminine universe of the elegant, sparkling and sensitive Parisian ladies.

In the bedrooms, the designer resurrects a true Parisian residence experience, with the fire place, with the wood floor. In the “Grand salon” and the new boutique, Tristan associates a club spirit to a subtle declination of materials, tones and light effects.
